3. Compensation

(a) Employees are paid once per month and are paid within the first week of each month. In regards to salary, Kamaala Enterprises operates a “Pay scale” system. This information can be found publicly online or requested from a Human resource manager.

(b) The business can make a formal request of an employee to work on their day of rest, however, the employee is not forced or required to work because a request is made and the employee has every right to refuse such a request if they choose. If the employee chooses to work on their day of rest at the company’s request, the employee will receive extra pay at the end of the month in addition to their approved salary. Should the employee agree to work on their “day of rest” a rate of “ten percent” (10%) of the employees’ monthly salary will be provided as compensation.

(c) Employees gain “one day of paid rest for each month worked”. With at least 24 hours’ notice to the employer, the employee can use these days at their choosing. During these “Days of paid rest” the employee does not have to report to work and will continue to receive a salary as if they had worked that day.

(d) Every twelve months of employment the employee will receive one full week of “paid holiday”. “Paid Holidays” act in the same manner as paid days of rest. The employee will not have to report to work and will continue to receive a salary as if they had worked that day. In addition, the employee will receive a one-time bonus of 25% of the employees currently monthly salary

(e) All employees will receive complimentary paid days of rest on the following days: New year’s, Easter, Christmas, and the birthday of the employee. Should any of these days fall on a Sunday, which is an already provided day of rest the day will be added to the already provided day effectively giving the employee two days of paid rest.

(f) All reasonable expenses arising out of employment shall be reimbursed assuming they were authorized prior to being incurred and with the provision of appropriate receipts.

4. Benefits

(a) Healthcare

- The employer will provide a medical plan for the employees and their families (spouse and children) during their employment.
- Each month the business will cover any pre-approved medical services up to a maximum coverage of up to “20%” of the employee’s monthly income. This is a collective coverage meaning the 20% will cover the employee and family. The employer must be directly billed or provided advance notice of any costs for them to be accepted and paid for by the business.

(b) Education

- Employees will have the opportunity to receive educational funding for themselves and their families (spouse and children) to attend school or receive continuing education. Every three months the employer will provide up to a maximum of 50% of the employee’s monthly salary to assist in tuition or other associated school costs. During “Holidays” or breaks in the school year, the business will continue to provide educational funding for approved programs or services. The business will only pay educational costs that are directly billed or pre-approved by an Executive manager.

(c) Paternity and Maternity leave

- After one year of employment, both male and female employees qualify for paid leave to tend to the needs of their families during the birth of a new child. An employee may be offered this benefit before they finish a first-year contract only under direct offer of the CEO.
- Female employees can qualify for 60 days paid leave after the birth of a child. During this time female employees will receive 50% of the monthly pay and retain the provided Healthcare benefits.
- Male employees are employees can qualify for 7 days paid leave after the birth of a child. During this time male employees will receive a full week of “paid leave” and retain their provided Healthcare benefits.

5. Performance Reviews

- (a) The Employee will be provided a written performance appraisal once per year and all aspects of the assessment can be fully discussed.

- (b) During the first 90 days of each one year contract the employee is considered to be on a probationary period where their effectiveness and performance will be evaluated. During this time if the employee fails to meet the standards listed in the “Position title” they will be terminated.

- (c) Only during the first contract and first probationary period do Employees do not receive the benefits listed in this contract. After the first 90 days of employment and completion of a probationary period is an employee entitled to be provided all benefits listed in this contract.

6. Termination

- (a) The Employee may at any time terminate this agreement and his employment by giving not less than two weeks written notice to the Employer.
